C.2.5 ARCASIA Students’ Competition

(Updated 2013)

1. Overview
 - 1.1 An ARCASIA Student Competition was first conceived and organized by IAP (Institute of Architects Pakistan) for the Students Jamhoree field in conjunction with the 1992 ACA-5 held in Lahore, Pakistan. The theme of the said Competition was “Vernacular Architecture in the 21st Century. Each Member Institute conducted the Design Competition to select two best entries from among the Student Competitors in their own country. The selected entries were sent to the Lahore Jamhoree for an Exhibition of Students’ Works arranged by the BAE of IAP at the National College of Arts. The exhibition was inaugurated by the Governor as part of the events of the Asian Congress of Architects (ACA-5).
 - 1.2 The success of the 1992 Lahore IAP venture prompted the ARCASIA Council and the ACAE to decide at the 1993 Hong Kong ARCASIA Council Meeting to hold the Competition on a regular basis in order to encourage Asian Architecture Students in the Member Institutes. At this stage valuable support came from the JIA. The JIA agreed to sponsor this competition and set aside an amount of Yen 300,000 as the First prize for a travel grant for the winning student. Other winners, if any, would be awarded Certificates only, by the organizers.
 - 1.3 ~~The~~ the First ~~ARCASIA~~ Students’ Competition for the ARCASIA Student’s Prize was inaugurated at the 1994 ACA-5 in Manila. However, only five (5) countries submitted entries. Subsequently, Rules and Regulations were framed up.
 - 1.4 Later, at the 1995 Singapore ARCASIA Council Meeting, the JIA agreed to sponsor the Second ARCASIA Student Competition. It was also agreed that, as in the First Competition in Manila the Jury for the Students Prize would consist of five (5) members (viz: the Convener of the Prize, who would be from the Host Member Institute; the 3 Deputy Chairmen of ARCASIA representing Zones A, B and C and the Chairman of the ACAE).
 - 1.5 It was also agreed that other modalities would be decided by the Convener/Jury, and that at least 12 ~~months notice~~ should be given to the participants.
 - 1.6 The objectives of the Students’ Competition are as follows:
 - 1.6.1 To encourage the Asian Architectural Students to be sensitive toward their Own Architecture, the Architecture of their region
 - 1.6.2 To encourage a healthy design competition among the students of the Member Institutes.

2. Conditions

- 2.1 The Competition will be a one stage competition open to Architectural Students from Member Countries of ARCASIA and student participants may enter the competition through their Member Institute.
- 2.2 The language to be used in the competition shall be English.
- 2.3 The Prize winner would receive Yen 300,000 as a travel grant from the JIA. At the end of the travel period, the Student Winner will have to submit a written report to his Institute, which will forward its copies to the ARCASIA Secretariat, ACAE and JIA.

3. Organization

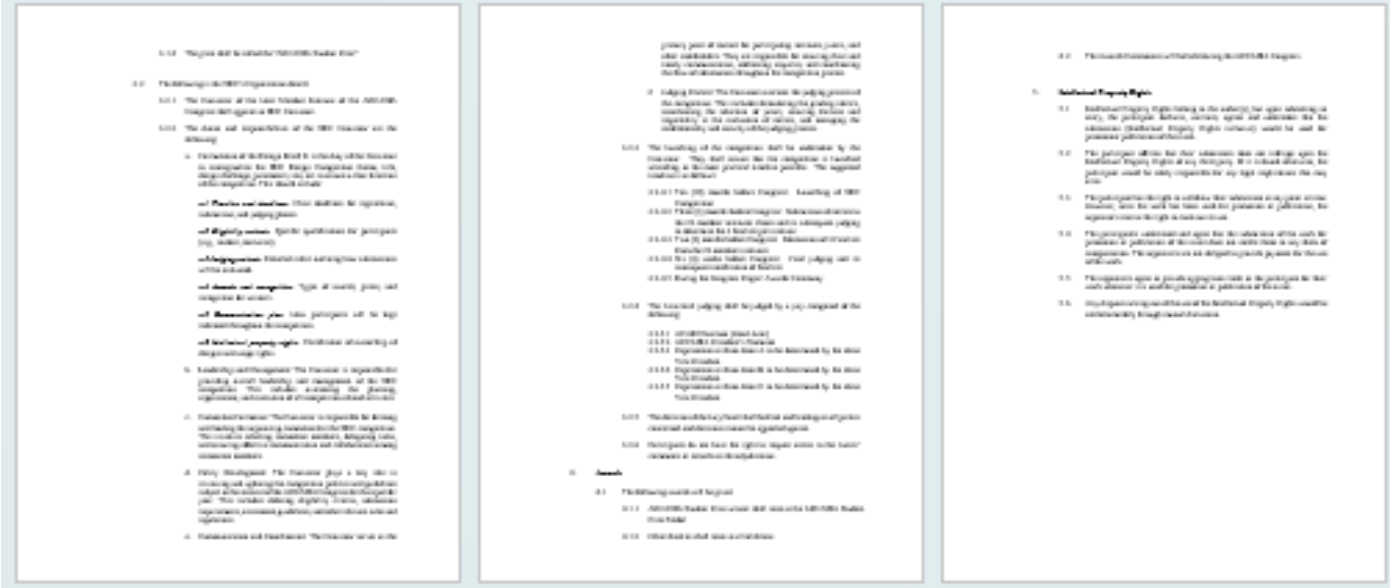

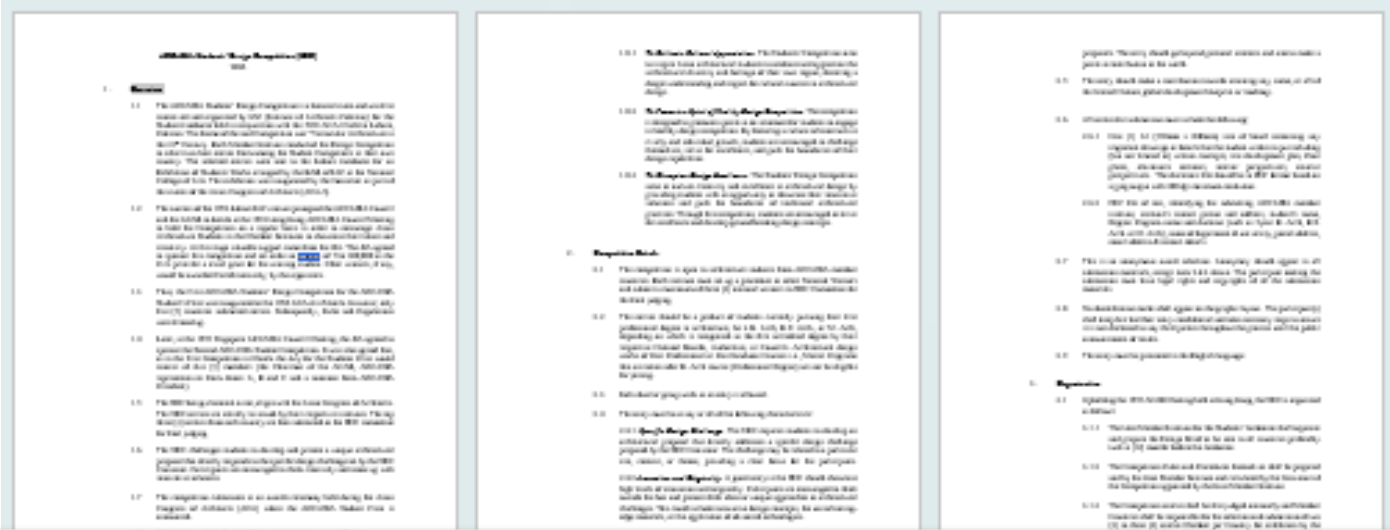

- 3.1 During the 1995 ACAE Meeting held in Hong Kong, ACAE also decided the following:
 - 3.1.1 The Host Member Institute for the Students’ Jamhoree shall organize and prepare the Design Brief to be sent to all countries preferably twelve (12) months before the Jamhoree.
 - 3.1.2 The Competition Rules and Procedures themselves shall be prepared and by the Host Member Institute and circulated by the Convener of the Competition appointed by the Host Member Institute.
 - 3.1.3 The Competition entries shall be first judged nationally and Member Countries shall be responsible for the selection and submission of two (2) to three (3) entries Member per Country for exhibition and final adjudication by the ARCASIA Students Competition Jury, during the Students’ Jamhoree.
 - 3.1.4 Only the First Prize awarded by the ARCASIA Student Competition Jury shall be entitled to the prize money and travel grant to be provided by JIA and any other student awarded any other prizes shall receive a Certificate only.
 - 3.1.5 The prize shall be called the “ARCASIA Student Prize”
 - 3.1.6 The Jury for the ARCASIA Student Prize shall be selected as mentioned herewith. However, the Host Member Institute shall have the flexibility to choose the Jurors to include eminent Architects from among the delegates, speakers and persons attending the ARCASIA events in order to reduce costs, if needed.

1. Overview

- 1.1 The ARCASIA Students' Design Competition is a biennial event and was first conceived and organized by IAP (Institute of Architects Pakistan) for the Student Jamboree held in conjunction with the 1992 ACA-5 held in Lahore, Pakistan. The theme of the said Competition was "Vernacular Architecture in the 21st Century. Each Member Institute conducted the Design Competition to select two best entries from among the Student Competitors in their own country. The selected entries were sent to the Lahore Jamboree for an Exhibition of Students Works arranged by the BAE of IAP at the National College of Arts. The exhibition was inaugurated by the Governor as part of the events of the Asian Congress of Architects (ACA-5).
- 1.2 The success of the 1992 Lahore IAP venture prompted the ARCASIA Council and the ACAE to decide at the 1993 Hong Kong ARCASIA Council Meeting to hold the Competition on a regular basis in order to encourage Asian Architecture Students in the Member Institutes to showcase their talent and creativity. At this stage valuable support came from the JIA. The JIA agreed to sponsor this competition and set aside an amount of Yen 300,000 as the First prize for a travel grant for the winning student. Other winners, if any, would be awarded Certificates only, by the organizers.
- 1.3 Thus, the First ARCASIA Students' Design Competition for the ARCASIA Student's Prize was inaugurated at the 1994 ACA-6 in Manila. However, only five (5) countries submitted entries. Subsequently, Rules and Regulations were firmed up.
- 1.4 Later, at the 1995 Singapore ARCASIA Council Meeting, the JIA agreed to sponsor the Second ARCASIA Student Competition. It was also agreed that, as in the First Competition in Manila the Jury for the Students Prize would consist of five (5) members (the Chairman of the ACAE, ARCASIA representatives from Zones A, B and C and a nominee from ARCASIA President).
- 1.5 The SDC being a biennial event, aligns with the Asian Congress of Architects. The SDC entries are initially reviewed by their respective institutes. The top three (3) entries from each country are then submitted to the SDC committee for final judging.
- 1.6 The SDC challenges students to develop and present a unique architectural proposal that directly responds to the specific design challenge set by the SDC Convenor. Participants are encouraged to think creatively and come up with innovative solutions.
- 1.7 The competition culminates in an awards ceremony held during the Asian Congress of Architects (ACA) where the ARCASIA Student Prize is announced.
