KUALA LUMPUR DECLARATION ON CITIES 2030

FT minister hopes to include KL Declaration in KL City Plan

BY NATALIE KHOO

KUALA LUMPUR: Federal Territories Minister Khalid Samad plans to incorporate the KL Declaration — sustainable cities resolutions formed during the World Urban Forum 9 — into the Kuala Lumpur City Plan 2020-2040 (KL 2040) to ensure inclusivity, transparency and accountability in city planning, development and management.

In his keynote address at the 10th International Conference on World Class Sustainable Cities 2018 (WCSC 2018) yesterday, Khalid said the time is right to adopt the KL Declaration resolutions and include them in the master plan for KL 2040. He said the items and strategies in the KL Declaration will assist the city in achieving its objectives for a better Kuala Lumpur.

"It is a comprehensive policy to ensure that we achieve the goal of Cities for All and that no one is left behind. Towards that end, the Kuala Lumpur Structure Plan 2020, which is under the process of being reviewed, has to include the latest concepts, policies and strategies that have evolved and adopted at both national and global levels.

Highlights of the KL Declaration include strengthening the role of the urban governance systems, to ensure continuous dialogue and participation among different levels of government and stakeholders; increasing multilevel and cross-sectoral coordination, transparency and accountability; as well as sharing of creative solutions and innovative

"A large population in our cities will mean urbanisation challenges such as solid waste disposal, traffic congestion, air pollution, limited water resources, inadequate supply of housing and an increase in the ageing population. Malaysia will become an ageing society by 2040 in which almost 20% will be 65 years and above, bringing about new challenges," he explained.

Khalid also cited the importance of the city's role in national economic development, as it needs to be liveable, yet be competitive enough to attract foreign investments.

Efficient management can contribute towards the healthy economic growth of a city, ensuring the effective and optimum use of resources, besides providing fast and efficient services. Kuala Lumpur needs to be a competitive city within this region as well as the world if we are to meet the ever changing needs and demands of its future population," he said.

WCSC 2018 is co-organised by the Real Estate & Housing Developers' Association Malaysia Wilayah Persekutuan Kuala Lumpur (REHDA KL), the Malaysian Institute of

- architect can directly shape the outcomes of a design process to the betterment of a community's overall quality of life, sustainability, social equity, health and resilience.
- can be "ambassadors" of the new SDG's through their daily work and through the transmission of knowledge from their practice into local marketplaces and communities.
- important to involve the public in large-scale building processes rather than relying strictly on government action and on the housing market.

Malaysia needs to have a core of good Architect Guides who can do professional architectural tour guiding, as is done in developed countries. We have very few, among them Ar. Ahmad Najib Ariffin who won the prestigious Award for World's Best Heritage Tourism Guide in 2007. PAM Heritage and Conservation Committee would like to tap on his expertise to train our interested members who may like to be freelance Architect Guides out of passion for sharing our Malaysian architecture and the heritage of our built environment with the public and foreign visitors.

The training course is tentatively set for 4 modules (1 module of 3 hours/week) and proposed to begin in August 2018.

"Certificate of Attendance will be issued upon successful completion of the course"

All interested members regardless of age or status (senior architects to recent graduates) are invited to register with PAM.
